Sample Question Bank with Sample Answers

Ques 1:

What is Eemaan? How is Eemaan?

Ans: Eemaan is simply concerned with faith and beliefs. It is to believe in Allah, the Angels, the Prophets and Messengers of Allah, the Divine Scriptures, the Day of Resurrection and Al-Qadaa' Wal Qadar (Divine Preordainment).

Eemaan is not visible, not apparent. It does not have any direct visual representation. The faiths and beliefs that we truly hold within our hearts are surely not visible to anyone except Allah the All-Knowing (الْعَلِيم).

Ques 2:

What is Islam? How is Islam?

Ans: Islam comprises our deeds after we believe in Allah and His Messenger Muhammad (PBUH). Islam is, to testify that there is no God worthy of worship but Allah and Muhammad (PBUH) is the messenger of Allah, to pray Salah, to fast during the month of Ramadan, to pay Zakat and to perform Hajj if we are able.

Islam is visible and apparent. It is concerned with worshipping Allah, with our deeds and actions which have a direct visual representation.

Ques 3:

What is the basic difference between Eeman & Islam?

Ans: The basic difference between Eemaan & Islam is that one is not visible and the other is. Eemaan is not visible nor apparent. Islam is visible and apparent.

Eemaan is the beliefs we hold within our hearts that we can't see. It's about faith, about truly believing in the one true God Allah. Islam is about our deeds, the acts of worship we do after we testify that Allah is the one true God and Muhammad (PBUH) is the messenger of Allah. So Islam has certain direct visual representations.

Ques 4:

Illustrate the elements that should be avoided in Tawhidul Asma Was Sifat.

1) Tashbeeh تشبيه (Comparison) : Comparing the attributes of the creator to the attributes of the created.

2) Tahreef تحريف (Distortion) : Through false interpretation, change or alteration. Such as the alteration of the wordings of the names and attributes, by adding to them, subtracting from them or changing the grammatical constructions.

3) Ta'teel التعتيل (Negation) : Negating Divine attributes, and denying their existence in Allah, such as negating the perfection of Allah by denying His names and attributes, negating the proper conduct towards Allah by abandoning His worship, or barring the created from its Creator, such as those who deny the fact that Allah created the universe and claim that it developed and evolved of its accord.

4) Takyef تكيف : Ascertaining how Allah's attributes take form and also determining their essence.

Ques 5:

Explain the three areas of Tawheed briefly.

Ans: Faith in Allah incorporates Tawheed in three areas:

- 1) Tawheed Rububiyyah (Oneness of Allah's Lordship)
- 2) Tawheed Uluhiyyah (Oneness of Worship)
- 3) Tawheed Asma' Was Sifaat (Oneness of Allah's Names and Attributes)

1) Tawheed Rububiyyah: Tawheed Rububiyyah means attesting that Allah is the absolute executor of actions in the universe: through creation, organization, administration, enforcement of change, increase, decrease, provision of life and death, and other actions in which none is associated with Allah, Glorious and Mighty is He.

Allah (swt) says,

“Then, to Allah belongs [all] praise – Lord of the heavens and Lord of the earth, Lord of the worlds. - Al Jaathiya (verse -36)”

2) Tawheed Uluhiyyah: This means that the believer holds the firm conviction that Allah (swt) is the True God and that there is no god but Him, and that he directs his worship only to him. This Tawheed is based upon worship that is dedicated, both in its inward and outward expressions, exclusively towards Allah, so that no aspect of it is directed to other than Him.

Allah (swt) says,

“I created the jinn and humans for nothing else but that they may serve Me.” - Al Zaariyat (verse -56)

3) Tawheed Asma' Was Sifaat: This Tawheed means the firm conviction that Allah, the Glorious and Mighty, is characterized by all the attributes of perfection, is above all defects and deficiencies, and that He alone is distinguished from the rest of creation by these characteristics. This Tawheed is achieved by attesting to all the names and attributes Allah (swt) reported about Himself, and those confirmed by His Prophet (ﷺ) in the Qur'an and Sunnah.

Allah (swt) says,

“Allah—there is no god ‘worthy of worship’ except Him. He has the Most Beautiful Names.” -Al Taha (verse -8)

Ques 6:

Explain Trinity in light of the concept of Tawheed ul Asma’ Was Sifaat.

Ans: The doctrine of the Trinity in Christianity holds that God is a single essence who exists consubstantially and co-eternally as a perichoresis of three separate persons: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. According to Islam any "plurality" inside God, is a denial of Tawheed and is contrary to the revelation given in Muslim scripture.

The Tawheed of names and attributes means that the Muslim should place Allah above all imperfections, deficits and deficiencies. Allah is to be described only by the attributes with which He had described Himself or with which His Prophet (ﷺ) had described Him. And He is to be named only by the names with which He had named Himself or with which His prophet (ﷺ) had named Him.

Tawheed of names and attributes is damaged by various elements which should be avoided by Muslims. One of them is Comparison (Tasbeeh): comparing the attributes of the creator to the attributes of the created. So Trinity falls into Comparison and should be avoided and thus Trinity is a violation of the Tawheed ul Asma’ Was Sifaat.

Ques 7:

Write short Notes on- Tashbeeh, Tahreef, ta’teel.

Ques 8:

In which Tawheed, Mushrik of Ancient Time used to believe in?

Ans: The Mushrik of Ancient Time used to believe in Tawheed ul Rububiyyah. Our early predecessors said: "When you ask them who created the heavens and the earth, they say that Allah did. But, in spite of this, they continue to worship other than Him .

Allah (swt) says,

"If you ask them 'O Prophet' who created them, they will certainly say, 'Allah!' How can they then be deluded 'from the truth'?" -Az Zukhruf (verse -87)

Ques 9:

Explain- Islam, Eeman vs Tawhidul Ulihiyyah and Tawhidr Rububiyyah.

Ques 10:

“Intelligence plus character-that is the goal of true education”—explain this quote by Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. based on your perspective.

Ans: The function of education is to teach one to think intensively and to think critically.

Intelligence plus character - that is the goal of true education. - Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s vision of education extends beyond academic achievement. He believes that good education should develop both intelligence and character. Intelligence includes knowledge and intellectual talents, whereas character includes characteristics such as integrity, empathy, compassion, and moral values. According to Dr. King, an adequate education should cultivate both elements in children.

For me, the ultimate goal of education is the harmonious synthesis of intelligence and character. I envision a society in which people are not just intellectually smart but also morally and socially responsible. This comprehensive approach to education seeks to create individuals who not only contribute to the betterment of society but do it with a strong sense of ethics and justice.

Ques 13:

Write short notes on Fardh Al'Ain.

Ques 14:

Write short notes on Fardh Kifayah.

Ques 15:

Distinguish between religions based on the concept of worship/Ibadah.

Ans: There are other religions which consecrate certain places for the sake of worship and prohibit its performance at any other place.

There are also religions which are of the view that worship can be performed only under the leadership of a particular class of people- the ordained priests. People may, therefore, perform worship under the leadership of priests and only at the places consecrated for it.

Thus the nature as well as the forms of worship differ from one religion to the other.

Ques 16:

Answer:

Ques 17:

Write short notes on Hadith Qudsi.

Ques 18:

“Working is Ibadah”- Explain it focusing on the Concept of Ibadah/Worship and the comprehensiveness of it.

The statement "Working is Ibadah" reflects a significant concept within Islam, highlighting the comprehensive nature of Ibadah and the broader perspective that Muslims are encouraged to have regarding their daily activities and responsibilities.

In Islam, Ibadah refers to acts of worship and devotion to Allah. These acts are not limited to rituals such as prayer, fasting, and charity but extend to various aspects of life. Islam teaches that Ibadah is not confined to the mosque or specific religious acts; it should permeate every aspect of a believer's life. This comprehensive understanding of Ibadah implies that one can earn rewards and draw closer to Allah through various means, including their work and daily responsibilities.

When Muslims approach their work as an opportunity to serve Allah, provide for their families, and contribute positively to society, it can transform their mundane tasks into acts of worship.

The intention behind working becomes crucial. When a person goes to work with the intention of earning a halal (lawful) income to support their family, fulfill their responsibilities, and avoid dependency on others, it becomes a virtuous act. Honesty, integrity, fairness, and ethical behavior in the workplace are also considered acts of worship when driven by the desire to please Allah.

Islam encourages a balance between the material and spiritual aspects of life. While earning a living and achieving success in one's career are important, they should not come at the expense of neglecting one's religious duties or moral principles. This perspective helps integrate faith into all aspects of life, fostering a holistic and righteous way of living.

Ques 19:

Give an Example of An act of obedience, if it is void of a pious intention, becomes an act of disobedience worthy of punishment and burden vice versa.

Let's consider an example from Islamic tradition where an act of obedience, if void of a pious intention, can become an act of disobedience, and vice versa:

Giving to Charity (Sadaqah) or Almsgiving:

- With a Pious Intention (Sincerity):

When a person gives to charity (sadaqah) with a sincere and pious intention, their primary goal is to please Allah, help those in need, and seek His reward.

In this case, the act of giving is an act of obedience to Allah's command to help the less fortunate, and it is done with a selfless, sincere heart.

- Void of a Pious Intention (Showmanship or Vanity):

On the other hand, if someone gives to charity to show off, gain public recognition, or inflate their own ego, their intention is impure.

In this scenario, what should be an act of obedience becomes an act of disobedience. The person's focus has shifted from helping others and pleasing Allah to seeking worldly praise or personal gain.

Ques 20:

Write down the message of this verse briefly- "Say (O Muhammad) my prayer, my sacrifice, my life and my death belong to Allah; He has no partner and I am ordered to be among those who submit, i.e.; Muslims." (6:162-163).

The message of this Hadith is a declaration of complete submission to Allah:

In this Hadith, it is emphasized that every aspect of a believer's existence, including their prayers, sacrifices, life, and death, is devoted to Allah alone. The message underscores monotheism (Tawhid) and the importance of submitting to Allah's will with sincerity, reflecting the core principle of Islam.

Ques 21:

Give an Example of Major Shirk and Minor shirk from your daily life.

Example of major shirk / shirk akbar (associating partners with Allah) from daily life could include:

- Direct Idol Worship: Bowing down or prostrating to statues, images, or other objects as deities or gods is a clear example of major shirk. This is a fundamental violation of monotheism in Islam, as it involves attributing partners to Allah.

Examples of minor shirk / shirk asgar (lesser forms of associating partners with Allah) are more subtle and can involve actions or intentions that may compromise the sincerity of one's faith:

- Riya (Showing Off): Doing good deeds or acts of worship with the intention of gaining praise or admiration from others instead of seeking Allah's pleasure is a form of minor shirk. For instance, praying more fervently in public to be seen by people rather than for Allah's sake.

Ques 22:

What do you do in mentioned cases according to the teachings of Islam stated in the Quran and Hadith?

1. You are selling a laptop and it has a problem in its USB port.

2. Someone is asking for help after a bike accident happened on the street.

3. Someone is giving a lecture on the street “How to become Happy in your conjugal life using these pills”.

In each of the mentioned cases, the actions or responses according to the teachings of Islam as stated in the Quran and Hadith would be as follows:

- Selling a Laptop with a Problem in its USB Port:

According to Islamic ethics and principles, when selling a product, honesty and transparency are of utmost importance. The seller should clearly and truthfully disclose any known issues or defects in the laptop, including the problem with the USB port. Deception or concealing defects would be against Islamic values, as it goes against the principles of honesty and fairness in business transactions.

- Helping Someone After a Bike Accident:

Islam encourages and emphasizes helping those in need and providing assistance to people in distress. In this situation, a person who comes across a bike accident should immediately offer help and support to the injured individual. Providing aid, calling for medical assistance, and ensuring the safety and well-being of the injured person are in line with Islamic teachings.

- Someone Giving a Lecture on "How to Become Happy in Your Conjugal Life Using These Pills":

A lecture promoting pills or any other products for enhancing conjugal life may raise ethical concerns in Islam. It is important to approach such topics with sensitivity and in accordance with Islamic values. Encouraging healthy communication, mutual respect, and seeking guidance from religious scholars or experts in a respectful and modest manner is more aligned with Islamic teachings.

Ques 23:

Write down one Popular Nullifier of Eeman existing in your society.

Ques 24:

Which nullifier is the most dangerous and popular in our society?

Ques 25:

“Mockery with any aspect of the Quran and Sunnah (Hadith) or negligence to any decree of Allah is a nullifier of your Eeman”. Give an example from your daily life.

Suppose someone, in a casual conversation or discussion, ridicules or makes fun of certain Islamic practices, beliefs, or religious figures, without understanding or respecting their significance. This can be a manifestation of mockery or negligence toward aspects of the Quran and Sunnah.

For instance, if a person mocks the act of Salah by mimicking it disrespectfully, jokes about the importance of fasting during Ramadan, or makes derogatory comments about the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him), these actions may be considered a form of mockery with respect to the religious practices and beliefs held dear by Muslims.

In Islam, such behavior is not only disrespectful but also considered a serious matter because it shows a lack of reverence for Allah's guidance and His decrees as outlined in the Quran and Sunnah. Muslims are taught to approach matters related to their faith with respect and understanding, even when discussing differences or engaging in dialogue with individuals of other faiths or beliefs.

Ques 26:

Why do we worship Allah although Worship does not benefit Him?

In Islamic theology, worshiping Allah is a fundamental and central aspect of faith and religious practice. While it is true that worship does not benefit Allah in the sense that He is not in need of anything, there are several important reasons why we should engage in worship:

- Obedience & Submission: Worship is a means through which Muslims demonstrate their obedience and submission to Allah. It is a way of acknowledging Allah's authority and sovereignty over all creation. Muslims believe that obedience to Allah's commands is the ultimate purpose of human existence.

- Spiritual Growth: Worship helps individuals cultivate spiritual awareness and growth. It serves as a means of self-purification, mindfulness, and self-discipline. Through acts of worship such as prayer, fasting, and charity, Muslims seek to develop greater self-control, humility, and gratitude.
- Testing and Accountability: Muslims believe that life is a test, and worship is a means by which they are held accountable for their actions. It is a way of fulfilling their responsibilities and obligations to Allah. On the Day of Judgment, their worship and deeds will be evaluated.
- Community and Unity: Worship often involves communal activities, such as congregational prayers and Friday sermons. These activities foster a sense of community and unity among Muslims, reinforcing their shared faith and values.
- Moral and Ethical Guidance: Islamic worship includes ethical and moral teachings, which guide individuals in their daily lives. The Quran and Hadith provide principles for just and righteous conduct, and worship reinforces these values.
- Gratitude and Remembrance: Worship serves as a means for believers to express gratitude to Allah for His countless blessings and to remember Him in all aspects of life. Gratitude is an important spiritual quality in Islam.
